Where is Ota City?

Ota City is located in southeastern Tokyo; it is an area with a friendly atmosphere that preserves much of the ambience of Tokyo's traditional shitamachi communities. Kamata Station, in the heart of Ota City, is just 8 minutes from Haneda Airport International Terminal Station and only 18 minutes from JR Tokyo Station (with no need to change trains), giving Ota City a great location with easy access to and from Haneda Airport (the "gateway to Japan") as well as the main sightseeing and business locations within the Tokyo metropolitan area.

What types of accommodation can I find?

In Ota City, you can find a variety of different types of accommodation including hotels, Japanese style inns (ryokan), guest houses, and unique private lodging facilities, according to your budget and preferences. Find the best place for you from the website below:

Hotels
In the area around Haneda Airport, Kamata Station, and Omori Station, there is a wide range of hotels, from small-scale hotels with 20 or so rooms up to large-scale hotels with 300-plus rooms. The room rates are very reasonable compared to the center of Tokyo. Some hotels have a spa where you can enjoy relaxing in natural hot spring water.

Guest houses
You will be welcomed by hospitable guesthouse owners who know the local area well. A guesthouse is ideal for budget travelers and those who want to meet other tourists from all over the world.

Private Lodgings
In Tokyo's Ota City, you can find special private lodging facilities which are certified by the city. We guarantee that you will find these to be among the safest and the most comfortable environments for your stay, compared to similar types of accommodation in other areas of Japan.

When you arrive at Ota City...

Please feel free to drop in at the Tourist Information Center to get local information such as where to see and where to eat.

Tourist's comments

Detached house type

Although it was an unfamiliar environment, we didn't have to worry about sharing the accommodation with other people, and our children were very excited about staying there. We were able to use new cooking appliances and my wife was happy to have the chance to cook in a modern Japanese-style kitchen. Thank you for giving us a great accommodation experience in Tokyo!

Tourist's comments

Apartment type

The room was very clean with all amenities, such as towels and detergents, so I could stay there comfortably without the need to buy household essentials. As it was a long-term stay, I appreciated having the bath tub and bathroom dryer. The location was conveniently close to the station, and the checking-in process, conducted at a nearby business hotel, was wonderfully smooth.

Checking in!

Go to the pre-specified place*<sup>1</sup> and take the following steps:

- Show your passport
- Provide a copy of your passport (in case of an emergency)
- Receive a key*<sup>2</sup>
- Have a briefing on how to use the facility and about the house rules

*<sup>1</sup> A specified hotel or lodge owner will serve you.

Enjoy your stay!

In Ota City, you can stroll along the shopping streets, buy local food to cook at your private lodgings, or visit a public bath to experience traditional Japanese culture. The great thing about staying in Ota City is being able to wander around the back streets and enjoy the local way of life.

Checking out

The process is similar to the checking-in process; return the key and show your ID if required.
